

Pallavi Gupta
Specialist-Health System Governance

Pallavi Gupta is a specialist in health systems governance at Health System Transformation Platform. She has over 20 years of experience in public health, gender and nutrition, working with various stakeholders in different parts of India. She is currently involved in analysing the landscape of health care delivery regulation in India and providing technical assistance to central and state governments and other partners. She has a background in child development and social work and has led and participated in several research and advocacy projects on topics such as maternal death surveillance, financial protection, child development, and medical abortion. She is passionate about community empowerment and health system strengthening and aims to bridge the gap between the community and the health system.