

Peter Parekattil
Senior Manager- Operations

Peter Parekattil is an operations officer at Health System Transformation Platform, where he provides a wide range of operational services to the HSTP team. He has more than four decades of multidisciplinary and cross-sectoral experience working with the government, multinationals, and international development organisations in various sectors such as nutrition, health, and disability. He has organised various national and international level events for HSTP and its partners. He is a valuable asset to the organisation and ensures smooth and efficient functioning of the operations. He is passionate about supporting the vision and mission of HSTP and contributing to the transformation of health systems in India.